

Film

Peace corps

By Ben Kenigsberg

Most film festivals attempt to cram the world into a week, but the Peace on Earth Film Festival may well have succeeded. With films ranging from environmental treatises to a Virginia Tech memorial to an exploration of Jewish-Muslim relations to a portrait of ubiquitous South Side activist Father Pflieger, the lineup begs to be sampled according to cause. Screenings begin at 9:30am on Friday 25 at the Chicago Cultural Center and continue through the weekend. See peaceonearthfilmfestival.org for details.

February 23, 2011

Radical Disciple, the Father Pflieger Story